Richard Dietrich Maddox's writing focuses on the search for permanent happiness, the goal of finding paradise on earth, the attainment of human Enlightenment. His work, though fiction, attempts to convey the profound spiritual Truth passed on to humanity by Enlightened Masters. Maddox approaches spiritual wisdom from a Western level of experience, presenting characters to whom readers can easily relate, offering situations in which readers might well have found themselves. His work offers, in a style which those living in the West will find understandable, the possibility of blissful existence.

Discussion Topics

The One True Path to Permanent Happiness

Everyone in the world wants to attain lasting happiness. Many think that it can be found in success or possessions. True joy, which does not fade over time, can never be a result of anything done, achieved, or acquired in the external world. Maddox's work details the path to permanent happiness.

What is the Meaning of Life?

People of all ages have, throughout the ages, wondered why they existed and what purpose they served on earth. Religions and philosophies, though trying to provide satisfactory explanations, have failed to do so for millions of human beings. Maddox's books offer logical and intuitively acceptable answers to this and other vital questions of existence.

Author of the Double-International Bestselling, 9-Volume Novel Series, *Remembering Eternity

Reader Reviews

THIS IS A RAREFIED GEM OF A BOOK! If I could scream from the mountaintops, 'READ THIS BOOK NOW,' I would!"

"Your writing and critical eye remind me of those of Balzac, Zola, and Proust."
